

ADRA Timor-Leste is a professional, learning and efficient faith-based organization driven by values of courage, connectedness and compassion. We see opportunities for progress through transformative and sustainable partnerships with local and national government, civil society, churches, as well as academic and professional organizations. We are committed to long-term engagement with communities in Timor-Leste, mobilizing and encouraging communities toward collective action. We believe in the tremendous potential of women, men, boys and girls and are committed to supporting the energy, talents, and aspirations of people in shaping their own futures and strengthening the nation.

Technical Expertise

ADRA's implementation staff have qualifications, skills, and experience in conducting needs assessments, community mobilization, and facilitating communities in project planning; horticulture, conservation agriculture, and agro-enterprise development training; facilitating market linkages; nutrition and health messaging; hygiene and sanitation promotion; design and construction of water systems and wells; monitoring, evaluation and reporting. ADRA employs women in implementation and leadership roles and works closely with its network partners to leverage support and resources from over 20 ADRA offices throughout Asia and the Pacific.
